

Deep Healing with Lyndall Demere, A Modern Christian Mystic

Hosted by Immanuel Presbyterian Church

“It is my impression that prayers are cumulative, gathering a palatable field of grace over time. The Presence of God is tangible for me. I can think of being in that Presence and immediately I feel full, my experience of myself is of a greater volume of energy, within me and around me. People tell me that they experience a fullness in the room, and in themselves, as this grace is all around. That is, it is not just an experience inside of me, rather it is one that is inside of me, around me and in others in the room with me. There is a glow in the room of pink and gold light. It is possible for me to see this light as soon as I ask for the Presence of God to be with me... Over time, everyone with me can experience this heightened way of being... There is an intellectual settling within the individual, and a spiritual experience that forever expands that person’s sense that God is truly with them by their own desire... God can step in for anyone, initiating healing of a heart torn apart.” Lyndall Demere, Ph.D., Msc.D., pastoral counselor, medical intuitive, and spiritual healer
